Enclosure

Subject: Cooperation with Carriers

Date: June 3, 1960

From: Solomon Papperman

To: Health Benefits Representatives

We anticipate that during the early days of the program carriers may be called upon to pay claims or provide service by enrollees who registered late and whose registration forms have not therefore reached the carriers.

If a carrier's representative should call on you for assistance in determining whether an individual claiming benefits is enrolled, it will be entirely permissible to, and you should, cooperate. Cooperation may take such forms as advising carrier's representative which employing office to call to confirm a claimant's enrollment, contacting the employing or payroll office yourself to check on the enrollment or to ask them to release the carrier's copy of the form to the carrier.
